CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate

WASHINGTON, July [illegible]

Sherman submitted the following concurrent resolution and said he hoped that its passage to day would be a matter of great pleasure to the people of the whole country:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to guide the United States of America safely through one hundred years of national life, and to crown our nation with the highest blessings of civil and religious liberty; therefore, the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled in the name of the people of the United States in pure thankfulness recognize the Fountain and Source, Author and Giver of all these blessings, and our dependence upon His providence; and

WHEREAS, We recognize as our fathers did that George Washington, "First in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of his countrymen," was chief of the Divine instruments in securing American Independence and in laying broad and deep the foundation of our liberties, the constitution of the United States, therefore as a mark of our sense of the honor due to his services and to his compatriots and his associates, our revolutionary fathers, we the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled in the name of the people of the United States in this beginning of the second century of national existence do assume the completion of the Washington monument in the city of Washington and do direct committees of both houses to institute necessary provisions of law to carry this resolution into effect. Passed by a unanimous vote.

Howe called up the bill reported from the committee on foreign relations on the 27th of June to encourage and promote telegraphic communication between America and Asia. It authorizes Charles Sorena, Leland Stanford, F. M. Pixley and others of California, Wm. B. Phillips of New York, Dudley S. Gregory of New Jersey and others to lay such cable and regulate the transmission of messages, etc.

Edmunds submitted an amendment reserving the right to Congress to alter the amendment or repeal the act. Amendment agreed to and bill passed.

Sargent said this cable was to be constructed by an American company and would be the only opposition to the English monopoly.

West from the conference committee on post office appropriation bill called up the conference report submitted on Monday last and in explanation of it said in regard to compensation for transportation of mails by railroads the conference agreed upon a reduction of rates hitherto paid to the extent of 10 per cent; also the appointment of commission by the President to examine into and report on the subject of such compensation at the next session, the report of the commission to form the basis of compensation to railways hereafter. In regard to the compensation of postmasters hereafter the committee had agreed to a reduction amounting in the aggregate to about $50,000; salary of no postmaster to exceed $4,000, with the exception of one in New York city. With regard to third class mail matter the committee had agreed that transient newspapers, magazines, regular publications designed for advertising purposes, and all matter of third class except unsealed circulars shall be admitted in the mails at the rate of one cent for every two ounces and fractional parts thereof. The committee continues the rate of one cent per ounce on all merchandise as it is now. The report is submitted with the approval of the committee on postoffices and postroads, that committee being represented in conference committee by its chairman.

Discussion followed pending which Morton called up the resolution to pay Pinchback.

Davis moved to lay aside the Pinchback resolution and proceed with consideration of the report of conference committee.

Sargent said at the present time the Senate should give preference to the appropriation bills. With the light he now had he said he was in favor of the resolution to pay Pinchback, but it could be considered after the conference should be discussed. The ten days time gained by the recent resolution to complete the appropriation bills had now nearly expired, and they must be disposed of soon.

Morton said he expected his friends on the Democratic side to avail themselves of the appropriation bills or anything else to put aside the Pinchback resolution.

The motion to lay aside Pinchback and proceed with the conference report was agreed to; yeas 31, nays 8. Those who voted in the negative were Bruce, Cragin, Harvey, Hitchcock, McMillan, Mitchell, Morton and Sherman.

Report of conference committee on postoffice appropriation bill was then agreed to without further discussion and the Senate resumed consideration of the Pinchback resolution.

OREGON

On her last trip to San Francisco the John L. Stephens carried about $35,000 worth of salmon.

Mr Houston Shepherd, late of Keosauqua, has become one of the proprietors of the Bedrock Democrat at Baker City.

The blackberry crop in Coos county was nearly ruined by the hot sun of a week ago, the green fruit being cooked prematurely.

Judge L. L. McArthur has started overland for the East to attend the Centennial. During the absence of Judge McArthur Judge Shattuck will attend to the business of the fifth district.

From the Astorian: M. J. Kinney has chartered and commenced loading the Macleod at his Astoria dock. Mr Kinney has two other vessels chartered to load at Astoria in July, chiefly with salmon.

The Baker City Democrat says: "From all directions in our county and Eastern Oregon we have good accounts of crops. We are informed that there never was a better prospect for good crops, including hay, than at present."

S. B. Howard cut thirty cords of wood from one tree on his place, in Clatsop county, last week and did not go above the first limb. He received $2 per cord for the wood on the bank. At this rate the wood crop is about as profitable as wheat.

Harry Howard of Empire, captured Powers last week at Leeds's place on the Coquille. Powers was charged with an attempt to commit rape. He had an examination, and in default of one thousand dollars bail is now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury next September.

The cargo of the schooner Hera, which sailed from Astoria on the 23d, was wholly made up of salmon cases, and was valued at $91,800. The shipment (17,000 cases) was made by Messrs Cutting & Co., Wm. Hume, Joseph Hume, Fitzpatrick, Davis & Co., Booth & Co., and Hume & Co., Astoria.

The Ashland Tidings says: "The monotony of court week at Linkville was relieved on the 28th of June by a little 'fisticuff' in the court room—California and Oregon represented in the melee, Oregon victorious in the first and last round. The attack was first made by the California forces to the number of 1, which was led on by P. J. McManus, promptly met by Oregon forces under that able commander B. F. Dowell in person."

The Coos county Record says: "Some two weeks since a sailor who was supposed to have the smallpox was put ashore from the schooner J. B. Leeds at the old Umpqua house at the mouth of the Umpqua river. The Leeds insisted on landing at Gardiner, and a general smallpox panic was the result, but as none of the passengers who were on board the schooner have shown any symptoms of the disease it is hoped that it may have been some other disease, or at least that it has not been communicated to others. The sailor was provided with an attendant and is said to be getting along well."

The Jacksonville Sentinel is informed that the owners of the Lather mine have a five stamp water mill running and will soon have a pan to assist it. Its capacity is an average of nine tons a day. The company has expended considerable this spring in money and labor in constructing roads from the mine to the mill, about a mile apart, and they are now taking out ore that looks better than any yet crushed. The rock yields about $10 to the ton. They expect to do more work and with much better results as soon as they get their pans to work and complete more perfect methods of taking out and delivering the ore.

The entire rise in the river at the Dalles was about sixty feet above low water mark and two feet nine inches above the highest water of 1862. The Mountaineer of July 1st says: "The water was about five feet in our office and as we left nearly all of our material, only taking sufficient to get out our paper with, our loss must be considerable. On Wednesday afternoon we visited the office and found about one foot of water still on the floor and the sight that met our vision was truly wonderful to behold—standing galleys, cabinets and cases were lying around upon the floor and floating in the water and our Gordon job press looked like it had been through the wars."

The Astorian says: "A large sea lion which was killed last Sunday night by Andrew Nelson, fisherman, and towed to Kinney's factory by Mr Anderson and his assistant Jos. Hackney attracted considerable attention on Monday. This is the second sea lion that has been captured in Astoria bay by fishermen. The first one taken some years ago required the united strength of several men to haul it into port. This one would have been brought in alive as it was generally tangled in the net, but the tide was against the captors and to save themselves they were compelled to kill it, which Mr N proceeded to do with a six shooter. The skin was stuffed. Sea lions are plentiful at Astoria but are very seldom captured."

The owners of the Yank quartz ledge on Galice creek, or at least a portion of them, have, for some time been engaged in efforts to consolidate interests and organize some perfect scheme to develop and work that ledge. The effort was rewarded with success on the 24th of last month, at which time a Company was incorporated to be known as the Galice Mill and Mining Co. The capital stock is fixed at $1,000,000 in shares of $20 each. The incorporation sets forth as its object the buying, selling and locating of mining claims in addition to the prime object of working the Yank lead. The incorporators are: John Edgar, Nicholas Rhose, Charles Sanders, Fred Fisher, B. A. Rawley, D. C. Courtney, W. J. Courtney and E. C. Brooks.

THE TERRITORIES

The Council Bluffs (Mo.) Nonpareil of June 15th says: Six wagon loads of Missouri emigrants have been camped near the park ... for several days. The outfit consists of about thirty persons. Their stock of horses is unusually fine. The party are en route to Washington Territory and will go by rail.

The Boise State ... says: There are about ten white men and twenty Chinamen mining on Loon creek and the claims are paying reasonably well. New and rich discoveries have been made at Yankee Fork ... Salmon river, and there is considerable mining at Stanley Basin and Robinson Bar, as well as a good deal of prospecting for quartz.

From a private letter from Colvill, the Walla Walla Union gleans the following item: The steamer Forty Nine met with serious accident in going up through the Upper Dalles, which compelled Capt. Pingston to discharge cargo and fall back to the foot of the canon, from whence, after taking two weeks for repairs, the boat returned to her Colville landing on the 15th of June. The Chinamen who were thus unceremoniously dumped built small boats and will go on to the Big Bend mines.

Centennial Exhibition

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—The great seal of California, carved out of [illegible] of native wood, has been [received] for exhibition in Agricultural Hall. Cash receipts on the 4th were $734.

The number of admissions to the Centennial Exhibition to day were over 100,000, it [illegible] the largest number of paying visitors since opening day.

The Celebration at New York

NEW YORK, July 5. Midnight.—As the clock struck 12 the city was given up to more than riotous hilarity. Salutes were fired, bells rung in the Park; church bells rang while the steam whistles of a thousand factories, tug boats etc. added to the din. What with the above and the cheers of the people, reports of fire arms, explosions of fire works, the racket is deafening and almost intolerable. Never in the history of the oldest inhabitants have the streets presented such a magnificent appearance. Hundreds of thousands of good natured people are surging through the streets witnessing the illumination of the works. The most vivid description would convey only an idea of the picture.

Union square from 10 o'clock until morning presented an imposing appearance and the whole scene, unparalleled, will be long remembered. Nothing could be grander, more imposing or soul stirring, particularly so when the advanced guard of the monster procession marched into the square, when the great buildings surrounding shook with the deafening applause of at least 50,000. Every building around the square is appropriately illuminated, save the old and stately mansion of Daniel Drew which stood out in gloomy proportions on the merry and enlivened scene. About 9 o'clock the square was cleared out by the police, Seventh regiment and the park police officers. It took the united efforts of all combined to keep back the surging masses of human beings from the lines laid down. Broadway and Fourth Avenue are packed, and Fourteenth street is altogether impassable. Many and variegated lanterns, splendid devices in gas jets, rockets, lights and other illuminations form a scene of oriental magnificence. It is noticed that the poorer portion of the city were most handsomely illuminated and decorated with flowers. Some of the avenues in that direction far outstripped Broadway with side streets in beauty.

NEW YORK, July 4.—The fire bells of New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City have been kept ringing almost constantly for two days, yet no serious fires have occurred. Notwithstanding this year's celebration was fourteen hours longer than usual the number of casualties and amount of drunken rowdyism was less than usual.

The following editorial may be regarded as an epitome of the Centennial ceremonies in New York: The ceremonies with which the Centennial Fourth was ushered in were conducted with great success and the whole affair managed without a hitch or disorder, and throughout the behavior of the people was as creditable to their self control as to their patriotism. Everybody seemed to make up his mind to honor the great anniversary by orderly conduct and display of good feeling. The cheers which greeted the military and other organizations in the procession were continuous and the men in line bore themselves as if sympathizing with the high spirits and patriotic temper of outlookers. There was very little drunkenness and less rowdyism, and the manifestations of enthusiasm over the occasion were especially strong among our foreign born citizens, although everybody shared in harmony. Fires were few in spite of the vast number of torches, candles and paper lanterns, and the accidents of the Fourth, though it was so highly celebrated, less than usual. The conduct of the people was creditable throughout and proved that the sentiment of patriotism had filled their bosoms and established fraternity among them. Decorations were universal and bore witness to the general desire to honor the event.

NEW YORK, July 4.—The Centennial of signing the Declaration of Independence was celebrated at the Academy of Music this morning in presence of a large and respectable audience. Rush C. Hawkins presided. Thurlow Weed, Peter Cooper, General Shaler and others were on the platform. Dr Adams delivered the opening prayer, after which patriotic songs composed for the occasion were sung. An oration was delivered by Dr Storrs of Brooklyn, well worthy the occasion. The Declaration of Independence was read by Gov. Vanderhoff.

This evening the city presented the same brilliant appearance as last night, and the streets were thronged with people viewing the decorations, illumination and fireworks.

Celebration in New England.

BOSTON, July 4.—Salutes were fired this morning in nearly every town adjoining Boston and from dawn till midnight. In nearly every place in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts there have been local celebrations attended with unparalleled enthusiasm.

The Celebration at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 4.—Business of all kinds was suspended to day and there was a general celebration by all classes of citizens. In the evening the city was beautifully illuminated and the display of fireworks was unequaled by anything of the kind at former celebrations.

Advices from various points in the West and Northwest indicate that the day has been one of general celebration.

The Centennial at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 5.—The Centennial anniversary of our National independence was observed here yesterday by the grandest celebration ever witnessed south of the Ohio river.

Congratulations from France and Germany.

BERLIN, July 4.—All the morning journals and especially the National Gazette, Vossische Gazette have leading editorials on the centennial of American Independence. They congratulate Americans in warmest terms.

PARIS, July 4.—The morning journals contain leaders on the Centennial celebration in the United States. They dwell with praise on the prodigious progress made by the republic since 1776. Several [illegible] the nations of the anniversary by American residents [illegible] to day.

THE CENTENNIAL MAMMOTH

EXHUMATION OF AN IMMENSE SKELETON

COLFAX, W. T., June 28, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

While the Coplin Bros. were draining a spring on Hangman's creek, Stevens county, W. T., they discovered a very large and peculiar jawbone of an animal. This excited curiosity and upon investigation they found that numerous large bones were to be found in and around the spring. They immediately went to work, and have taken out more than 100, the four largest of which the writer has examined, and whether large or not the following description will show. The pelvis is of a peculiar shape, yet so similar to that of other animals as to be recognized at once by any one. It is five feet and ten inches across just above the sockets and is four feet in depth. The opening when the bone is placed in its natural position is twenty three inches each way and is nearly in the shape of a half moon. Perhaps the greatest peculiarity about this bone is that of projecting at the lower part 15 inches farther back than at the upper part. The part projecting back is nearly in the shape of a trough, measuring 17 inches from edge to edge and about 5 inches deep. The cartilaginous surface connecting the bodies of the vertebrae where it passes through the pelvis is 7 by 4½ inches, and the spinal canal is 4 by 2 inches. The whole vertebrae exclusive of the processes is about 8 inches in diameter. A horn supposed to be of the same animal measured 10 feet around outside of the curve and [illegible] feet 7 inches around inside of the curve. It is 20 inches in circumference at base, and 2 feet from base is 22 inches. On a straight line from point to base it measures 4 feet 7 inches. It is a question whether it is a horn or a tusk as it resembles both in some respects.

The jawbone is the greatest curiosity of all in its size but in shape. It is 2 feet ... ... thick and about ... broad. It contains only one tooth on each side which measures on the grinding surface 10 feet by 5½ inches, being elliptical ... The jawbone terminates in a protuberance ... indicating ...

The shoulder blade is very similar in shape to that of ... It is 3 feet 4 inches long, and 2 feet 2 inches wide. The socket of the pelvis and [illegible] [illegible] surely 8 inches across.

The pelvis weighs 154 lbs, the horn 115 ... One tooth ... weighs 5 lbs ... surface weighs ... from which it is estimated that the weight of the jawbone just before ... would weigh at least 90 lbs. ... you like to take. The existing facts cannot be avoided.

They expect to find greater wonders than these, as they have not excavated more than 10 feet square yet. They have found several other large bones, two of which are supposed to be the head and the other shoulder blade of the skeleton just described. They intend to begin taking out again in about two weeks, when I hope to visit the place and give you a full description of the place and the curiosities taken out.

The Regatta.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—The city has been very quiet to-day, the formal celebration being all over, with the exception of the regatta of the Yacht Club which started from Long Bridge shortly after 2 o'clock. The scene on Mission Bay just before the start was very spirited. The bay was covered with yachts and steamers gaily decorated, some carrying bands of music, and the wharves and shipping in the vicinity covered with spectators. There was a good breeze and a successful race. The schooner J. C. Cousins won the prize for first class yachts.

The Fourth in the Interior.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Dispatches from various towns in the interior throughout California, Oregon and Nevada report a general observance of the 4th surpassing anything previously attempted. Very few accidents have been reported, except in the case of Wm. Schaffer, at Sacramento, who had an arm blown off while loading a cannon.

Probable Suicide.

SAN JOSE, July 5.—This afternoon Coroner Turner held an inquest at the morgue upon the remains of a German named J. Mooth, aged about sixty years, who was found in the ruins of his cabin which was destroyed by fire a couple of nights ago. Mooth resided on the Milpitas road. Some months ago his wife separated from him and since that he has been much depressed in spirits. He was last seen alive on Friday evening. It is supposed that he set fire to his premises while suffering with melancholy and then committed suicide, as he was without means that would tempt robbing or murder. The jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from burning, but whether by accident or suicide was to them unknown.

NEVADA.

Homicide.

EUREKA, July 5.—A homicide occurred about an hour ago on Ruby Hill of a most revolting nature. Wm. Cavanaugh, while slightly intoxicated, went home and made improper advances to his wife, who is enceinte. Finding her entreaties to desist unavailing she drew a six shooter and shot him three times, killing him instantly. Mrs Cavanaugh is under arrest.

A later dispatch says: The sheriff has just returned from Ruby Hill and reports that Cavanaugh is still alive and may recover. The report of his death was premature.

At the celebration there yesterday, in firing a salute a gentleman by the name of Houston was badly burned by an accidental explosion of gun powder. Several others were slightly injured.

THE CENTENNIAL IN THE COUNTRY.

AT EUGENE.

EUGENE CITY, July 4, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

It is nearly over, and I am glad of it. I can now wait patiently for another. I heartily wish you Portland people could have spared Joaquin for a few hours to day. I think he would have slightly qualified the opinion he expressed regarding this city in his "Ride through Oregon," published in the Overland. From the first dawn of this glorious day the roads were thronged with vehicles of every description, from the stylish buggy to the useful wagon of all work. From the Calapooia mountains to the very extreme northern boundary of the county, from Siuslaw, Spencer Creek, Coyote and Long Tom poured forth the hardy borderers with their wives and families. Flags fluttered and bright eyes beamed on every side enough to distract the brain of any one but a steady Benedict. Eugene, with its substantial brick stores and cool well shaded streets, was passed, on beyond the court house and the plaza, over the railroad track and the bubbling mill race, and then the camping ground was reached—a suitable spot to celebrate the birthday of our freedom—encircled with shady live oak. The limpid Willamette flowed by it whilst just in view appeared the noble building destined to be the University of Oregon. Soon the sound of music was heard and the head of the procession wheeled into view. In front was the grand marshal, Dr. J. P. Gill, prancing along on a high mettled steed, then came a splendid car in which the States were represented by a bevy of fair young girls, whilst above their heads fluttered the starry flag borne aloft by the Goddess of Liberty, Miss Laura Watkins (and if liberty had always as beauteous a representative a good many free and independent bachelors would soon resign them and be willing slaves). Then came the firemen with their Hook and Ladder No. 1, and then on came the multitude, scholarium, equestrian and pedestrian. The band played, handkerchiefs waved, and the chief actors in the day's drama mounted the platform, whilst hundreds of the prettiest girls in Oregon (and that says a great deal) looked on admiringly. The opening prayer was delivered in a strain of fervid piety by the Rev. C. W. Rees, and at its conclusion the Declaration of Independence was read in a clear and emphatic style by Gen. W. H. Odell. After more music the orator of the day, Hon. J. Burnett, was introduced, and in words that teemed with patriotism and which found an echo in the hearts of his auditors, told of how nobly our ancestors strove for and gained that independence which to day their descendants of the fourth generation were celebrating. He was followed by Judge Huston, who made a brief address, but it was so full of useful information that his listeners were left dissatisfied when he concluded. Cheer after cheer burst from the throats of the [illegible] spectators, and then the vast assemblage broke into scattered groups. Baskets of all sorts and sizes were produced and eatables of every kind rapidly disappeared, whilst neighbors and old acquaintances exchanged friendly greetings and perhaps tender glances shot from bright eyes and willing ear listened to soft pleadings. In short it has been a day of perfect enjoyment to all.

J. B.

ALONG GALE'S CREEK.

A citizen writing from Gale's creek under date of the 4th inst., says:

Thinking a few items from this place would interest some of your readers, I will send you a few lines. A number of citizens, with families, gathered together at Stout's, as was intended to spend the 4th, one of the former being there for many years to come. After the neighbors had partly gathered, in the first thing on programme was a hunt. Five men armed with rifles and shotguns and knives with five roaring canines to chase the deer to water. They had not been gone to the extent of one hour when bang went a gun and down came the deer. This partly ended the hunt, two men bringing the game to camp and the other three returning shortly after. To the surprise of everybody, the oldest man of the five killed the deer, he being near 60 years old. By this time a few more had come to time and the next thing on programme was to have this animal cooked for dinner. The ladies took it in hands and in a short time two tables were spread with the good things to eat of this world, prepared by the ladies of Gale's creek. After dinner the next thing on programme was the pitching of quoits, fishing, shooting and a merry time generally among everybody. The flag waved at full most all day. At the wind up of this great memorial day guns were fired and a foot race was run and every body went home well pleased.

AT EAGLE CLIFF.

Writing from Eagle Cliff, W. T., a correspondent says: I address you these few lines to let you know that although the workmen at W. Hume's fishery were too busy to witness the Centennial Celebration they did not let so great an occasion pass without making some effort to commemorate it. The exercises were carried out to the letter, and everything passed off as pleasantly as could be desired. The patriotic songs by Mr Glenn were rendered in a highly artistic manner. The oration by T. M. Sherman was excellent, the reading of the Declaration of Independence, by M. A. Hackett, was loudly applauded, and the rendering of the poem was splendidly done by J. P. Ward. The contestants in the rowing regatta displayed great skill and American muscle. The double scull race was won by Messrs S. Lowe and L. Hirsch, the single scull race was won by G. Dyer. The display of fireworks in the evening was brilliant.

A PLEASANT SUMMER RESORT

SNOWDEN'S MINERAL SPRING, YONCALLA VALLEY, Ogn., July 4, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

At this season of the year, when parties of pleasure are seeking for a pleasant resort, I know of no location in the State more deserving of notice or patronage than the one described in the heading of this communication. The spring is about 150 miles south of Portland, two miles south of Drain's station and about one mile north of the former residence of "Uncle Jesse Applegate," on the Oregon and California stage road, and immediately on the line of the O. & C. railroad. Trains stop at this point when passengers desire or business demands so that in case of [illegible] it is far superior to any other mineral spring in the State. Its waters are powerful for the healing of almost all diseases, as abundant witnesses can testify, and I myself have been entirely restored from suffering with neuralgia of the nerves, which has given me more or less trouble all my life, baffling the skill of some of the most eminent physicians of Germany and of this country. Aside from the healing qualities of the spring in question, the location [illegible] in delightful scenery, invigorating [illegible] air free from all malarious diseases, and with game and fish in abundance. Campers and others will find Mr and Mrs. Snowden always ready to render every assistance to make their stay enjoyable. Their charges for [illegible], or provisions furnished, when desired, are reasonable. I have no interest in writing this communication except to call public attention to this beautiful spot, that [illegible] especially who are sick may combine profit with pleasure, as I have done, by coming here.

OAK STREET—near First

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1876.

THE SMELLERS GET A FRESH SCENT.

The Congressional investigators think they have struck a lead which will connect the President with the whisky frauds, and to this end have subpœnaed Ex-Secretary Bristow and Solicitor Bluford Wilson, from whom it is expected the "missing link" will be obtained. That is all right enough. If the Chief Magistrate of the nation has been more deeply involved in this business than has yet been made known he cannot complain if that fact is made public and he required to answer before the bar of public opinion, if not before a tribunal which acts more summarily, for his misfeasance. But is there not something a little out of the ordinary in the alacrity with which the investigators rush to the front when there appears a prospect of besmirching the President? Is there not, in the haste with which they herald forth the purpose of the investigation, the manifestation of a spirit unworthy of the Representatives of the people of this great nation? It is not the general or the particular fact, that there is a prospect of reaching the truth of the matter, which stirs the Democratic statesman, but the fact that in getting at the truth there is a possibility of bringing the President, and through him his exalted position, into disgrace. That feature of the thing is positively humiliating. Whether there shall be any connection shown between the President and the whisky ring, it is an humiliating spectacle to see the [illegible] of the United States overflowing with uncontrollable joy at the prospect of being able to prove the highest officer in the Republic a knave. That is [illegible] that anybody who loves his country and wishes to see it maintain an honorable position among the nations, can desire. It seems these Democratic investigators are never so rejoiced as when they have some encouragement to believe they can make a point for their party by proving the entire government to be rotten and corrupt. It may, therefore, be predicted with reasonable certainty that if they can unearth any fact which can be tortured into evidence of complicity of the President with the transactions of the whisky thieves, they will seize upon it with eagerness and report the President a member of the ring. That would be in keeping with the spirit of all their investigations thus far.

THE MONTANA INDIAN WAR.

In all the annals of Indian warfare there is no record of such slaughter as that which took place on the 27th ult., when Gen. Custer, at the head of his command, charged upon 2,500 well armed Indians and went to his death. The Indians were armed as well as the whites and fought with the skill of the white soldier and the ferocity of savages. Out of General Custer's command 315 were left dead on the field, including most of the officers.

These Indians are not the cowardly and degenerate creatures of the Pacific coast, but strong, stalwart men, with skill and courage to meet an equal number of soldiers. They are the Cossacks of America. They are familiar with every foot of the [illegible] and defiles, [illegible], and comprehend the advantages of position as clearly as any military commander, and they can mass all their strength at the shortest notice, wherever it may be necessary.

By reference to an interview with General Custer published in the New York Herald a short time ago it appears he knew exactly where he should find the Indians, but underestimated their strength. It was probably this mistake that led him to make the attack which resulted in the loss of so many lives, including his own. This disastrous engagement will in all probability cause a long and bitter Indian war. It may also place the frontier settlements of Montana and Wyoming in great peril. It need surprise no one to hear, at any day, of the slaughter of the settlers on those frontiers, with all the horrors of the war of 1855-6 in Oregon multiplied ten-fold.

A letter was received yesterday evening from Joaquin Miller, in which he sent his regrets at being unable to fulfill his engagement to furnish a poem for our Centennial celebration. [illegible] engagements which could not be put aside, among them the poem for Dartmouth's [illegible], [illegible] upon his time and render it impossible for him to give the required attention to Oregon; besides which he compliments Oregon by assuming that she has at home a greater amount of available poetic talent than any other State and can take care of herself better on such occasions. We are very sorry, as we are sure the people of the State are, for not having a poem from Mr. Miller, but he says only truth, as the proceedings of our celebration show, when he says we have poets here adequate to the high task of presenting a fit offering for the occasion of a century.

A Democratic paper, published at Jersey City, comes to us with a two column article devoted to the object of proving that Tilden is not at heart a secessionist. If there were no reason for suspecting him of entertaining views inimical to the preservation of the Union, what would be the necessity of a defense of him against such a suspicion? A man whose opinions on that subject are so uncertain as to make argument necessary or proper, is not just the sort of a man the country wants. There is no danger of another attempt at secession, but it is not at all difficult to imagine such conditions of affairs arising in the future as would render the views of the President on the relations of Federal and State governments very important. No one feels called upon to prove that Hayes is a Union man.

A private letter from Washington says it is an open secret that the Washington ring are sore over the nomination of Hayes and would be glad to see him defeated. Their opposition will draw more votes to him than they can draw away. He will grow stronger to the day of election, and will receive the vote of the Republican party with scarcely an exception, if the campaign is made with such vigor as to get out a full vote.

The reservoir at the head of Anthony's Fork of North Powder—at the lakes—broke one day last week, and flooded the farms and gardens along North Powder, doing considerable damage. W. B. Power's fine garden was almost entirely destroyed. The reservoir at the lakes is used to supply water to the mines at Crane's Diggings, on Grand Ronde river.

THE PLACER, DEEP HYDRAULIC AND QUARTZ MINING.

MALHEUR CITY, June 22, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Here, as in California and Nevada, the light placers were soon worked out. The men who worked them were only the pioneers of a branch of mining more enduring. It was supposed, all over this coast, that when the surface placers were exhausted all the gold was gone, and that these mineral countries would retrograde. Not so. These surface mines only pointed to something more lasting. Little did the pioneer miner of the past think, when skimming over the surface, that below and around him were mines of wealth as lasting as time, and destined to revolutionize the financial affairs of the globe. The rocker was succeeded by the shallow hydraulic diggings, and the latter by the deep gravel hydraulic mining of the present day. In these, water, with the modern appliances, is made to melt away a mountain that the miner may bottle up its gold. The next great process of obtaining the precious metals is by means of the stamp mills. This process assumes proportions larger than ever known in the past, and opens up an industry as enduring as man. It seems to be, in the order of things, that as man advances in civilization, Providence is lavish in His gifts. In proportion as gold and silver are needed, the very foundations of the earth produce them for the varied wants of man.

The Pacific States from Mexico to British Columbia are being mined with all the modern appliances. Companies of large capital are opening up extensive gravel mines and erecting stamp mills near a thousand mineral lodes. The barren portions of the continent, thought to be worthless, are made to bud and blossom. The valleys and the gorges of the mountains, all over the sea-board, send their mineral to the marts of the world.

Three-fourths of the extensive mines in California and Nevada are operated by foreign companies. They and the capitalists of San Francisco have scores of prospectors all over the mountains and valleys in search of mineral lodes. With a few exceptions, there is not one representing Portland or Oregon interests. Portland, in spirit, belongs to the [illegible]. Some of her citizens have a few [illegible] in San Francisco stocks; some have made and lost,—not one cent to invest in the development of home mines. At their very doors are mineral lodes as extensive, lasting and rich as any ever discovered in California or Nevada. Our mines are not developed as extensively as elsewhere, because their richness is not heralded as in our sister States. Why money is easy in San Francisco is because she is the center, in spirit, of a network of mining interests. So might Portland be the center of mining interests and progress if she had "several first class funerals," and not before. The progress of Portland is backward. A few live men are needed, and needed at once. If delayed longer, there is danger she will lose her commercial supremacy. The gold dust and silver and gold bullion, produced at her very door, go to San Francisco and the East. The goods and supplies of Eastern Oregon are supplied from St. Louis and Chicago. Yours,

C. M. CARTER.

A PIONEER PRESENTATION.

A remarkable and long to be remembered meeting took place yesterday afternoon of a number of the oldest pioneers of Oregon, after a separation, in some instances, of several years. The reunion took place in one of the rooms of Mr Robert King's saloon on Stark street, one of the first persons who ever engaged in the liquor traffic in this State, and is justly entitled to the appellation of pioneer. Notwithstanding the meeting had the appearance of being incidental it had been pre arranged. Among those who had received invitations by the Centennial committee to attend and participate in the celebration of the present week was Mr Frank W Pettygrove, than whom few are better known to the old pioneers of this city. Mr Pettygrove came to Oregon in 1842 and located on a piece of land which has become the site on which Portland now stands. As may well be supposed the soil at that remote date had not been disturbed by plow or spade and scarcely a stick of timber cut. To Mr Pettygrove justly belongs the credit of having commenced a work which in a quarter of a century has culminated in the building of a fine and growing city. The first road which was ever opened through what is now Portland, leading out to Washington county, was made by Mr Pettygrove at a cost of $1 800. In the following year—1845—Mr Pettygrove erected a small building which he used as a store and also a log cabin that was occupied as a dwelling at the corner of what is now Washington and Front streets. He drove the stakes and took the initiatory steps toward laying off the plat of the city. After residing in Portland until 1849 Mr Pettygrove took his departure for California. For a number of years past he has been a resident of Port Townsend. In compliance with the invitation he came to this city last Tuesday, and since that time has been a guest of the centennial committee. The meeting was arranged for the purpose of making a formal presentation of an appropriate gift to Mr Pettygrove by our old and esteemed friend Col Chris Taylor of Dayton Yamhill county, who many years ago, was a clerk in his store. The present was an elegant gold chain to which was attached a medallion bearing the following inscription: From Chris Taylor to F W Pettygrove. Col Taylor the donor, made the presentation speech. In presenting his old and much esteemed friend with what he was pleased to designate this simple token of friendship and respect, Mr Taylor spoke in a very feeling manner of the long and unbroken chain of friendship which had existed between them for the past 30 years. His remarks were most fitting and were keenly appreciated by not only the recipient but all present. In responding Mr. Pettygrove took occasion to return his gratitude to the donor for the handsome and valuable gift in a very feeling manner, and also alluded briefly to a few incidents of "early times" which were yet fresh in his memory. While endeavoring to express his feelings, the tears trickled down his cheeks and his emotions almost mastered him. At the close of his remarks Mr J H Egan, an old pioneer stepped to the front, and taking hold of the chain placed it over his head. Nat. H Lane, Esq, then took Mr Pettygrove's watch and attached it to the end of the chain, accompanying the act with appropriate remarks. Some time was spent in social intercourse, recounting incidents and reminiscences of the pioneer days, when those present quietly dispersed. It was an occasion which will long be cherished with the most pleasant remembrances.

The excursionists returned at 6 30 P M heartily delighted with the day's amusements

Thursday's Races

Although the crowd at the track was not as great as on the preceding day there was a lively interest in the race, trotting best three in five heats for a purse of $1 000, the first to receive $600, second $300, third $100. There were three entries, as before announced. The judges were Wm Bigham, J P Miller and H D Sanborn, distance judge E Jeffery, patrol judges D F Bald, W G Scoggin and W I Hallett, timers Thos Henery, A J Knott and P D W Hulenburg, starter Levi Knott. The race being called, the horses came to time promptly, and were all in excellent condition as far as could be told from their appearance on the track. In drawing for position Parrott got the pole, Mollie Welch second and Olympia Dick outside. Some little trouble was experienced in securing a good start but on the fourth score they were tapped off by the starter. Mollie Welch a little in the lead and Parrott close upon Olympia Dick's flank. Mollie went off at a very lively gait, and materially widened the gap between herself and the others when the quarter post was reached, and in the same quarter Dick broke up pretty badly, losing considerable ground, which he soon regained, crowding Parrott very close to the outside of the track and causing some complaint on the part of the friends of the latter; but the judges on a careful investigation concluded that the matter did not call for action on their part. Mollie kept up the gap behind her until on the home stretch, when Dick and Parrott both came up at a lively rate, the former trying for the heat and the latter to save his distance, which he succeeded in doing handsomely, but Dick could not pass the little black she coming in about three lengths ahead in 2 39. Olympia Dick second, Parrott third

The second heat was started with less difficulty than the first, but was a better test of the speed of the animals as they all came square down to work at the tap of the bell. Again Mollie took the lead, while the other two kept nearly together through the first quarter, after which Dick forged away from Parrott and it became evident that the latter would be distanced and as they turned the half mile and came down towards the home stretch there were two wide gaps, Mollie being three or four lengths ahead of Dick and Dick as much or more ahead of Parrott. The heat resulted as all felt it would when the first quarter was made—Mollie winning in 2 36, and Parrott being distanced. The time which is that of the timers but a number of outside watches agreed on 2 35 as the correct time, which would give Mollie the fastest record in Oregon, Bellflower's being 2 36½ on the White House track in 1857

The third heat was called on time and the two horses yet in the field were quickly sent off, Mollie again coming down to her work in splendid style but Dick broke on the first quarter and fell behind, nor was he able to gain any more during the entire heat by good honest trotting. But his driver seeing that he must do better or get the distance flag in his face, and knowing that he had as well be declared distanced for running as for being slow on the home stretch Dick was allowed to do considerable running. He saved his distance as to position, for with Mollie in the lead, Dick got inside the distance flag before it fell. The judges however declared him distanced for running, and gave the heat to Mollie. Time, 2 37½

The winner Mollie Welch is well known in this city, and her owner was extensively congratulated upon the splendid work which she did. We have seen her trot several times before but have never yet been so well pleased with her style as on this occasion. The universal expression was that she was in better training than ever before and won the race solely because she had the qualities of speed and bottom

TO-DAY'S RACES

The great race of the week, and in fact the greatest race ever gotten up north of California will come off. The five horses entered are Osceola, Ophir, Butralph, Rye Straw and Billy Bigham. Osceola has a record well down in the 40s and some of the others come near enough to almost touch him and we doubt not that he must do all he can if he gets away with the prize. Ophir is backed by a great many good judges and is evidently a superior horse. His stock is of a long line of winners. Butralph and Rye Straw descendants of the famous Lexington, and both magnificently developed and having good records will be found no slow coaches. Like Billy Bigham, they are colts of Dr Lindsley and few of his colts have disappointed their backers. Billy Bigham seems to have a majority of friends in the pool buyers so far and will do something he has never done before if he goes back on his friends to day. His fine run on Wednesday showed him to be in excellent condition and training. Altogether no such a field was ever before in a race on the north west coast, and judging from the past we feel safe in assuring the public that barring accidents the horse with the speed and bottom will win. Of course we would not make any prediction as to which of these five horses will come out victorious, but whichever does will wear no small honor and make a record that will place him with the leading flyers on the Pacific coast. The utmost effort is made by the proprietors of the track and the Centennial committee to make everybody who attends comfortable. Excellent order is maintained and lovers of the turf and its exciting sports seldom have such an opportunity as to-day's races will afford. There are two or three roads that lead to the track, and men desiring to take their families by starting a short time before the grand rush [illegible] city, or by taking either of the [illegible] than the main road [illegible] [illegible] Abundance of cold water [illegible]

The gentlemen in this boat came in at the last moment and merely threw off their outer clothing, wearing their hats as a head covering. They had one of the cedar pleasure boats painted blue, to be seen frequently at the foot of Stark street. It was much heavier than either of the others—fully sixty pounds more in weight. The men were stout and with wind having plenty of muscle felt confident of winning.

Middle—Oxford—H B Loveridge (stroke) and [illegible] in light and in arms bare colors red. These gentlemen possessed one advantage in having a boat lighter by eighteen pounds than the Harvard and evidently appeared more muscular, capable of keeping up their stroke and holding out longer than their younger competitors in the Harvard

Outside—Harvard. Geo Brooke (stroke) and John D Wilcox, in light undress arms bare, colors blue. These oars men were the favorites among experienced men and the impression existed that they would win

In the positions just stated the crews, upon the word Go, started, the Herald taking the lead. The first stroke made by Denny in the Herald resulted in the breaking of an oar. He called if the pair could get new ones and was answered "No". The crew then threw aside one pair of oars and went to work at it with one two rowing, in this manner about a quarter of a mile and then withdrew. The other crews kept pretty evenly together up to the foot of Morrison street when Carr and Loveridge drew ahead widening the gap gradually to the turn at Ross Island. Here the Harvard's gave signs of weakness and dropped behind considerably. On the home stretch the Oxford crew took things easily. They crossed the home line amid cheers the time being reported as 21 30—distance three miles.

Wilcox and Brooke on the last three hundred yards made a spurt but it only lessened the space between the boats a trifle. They came in just 4 seconds behind the winners and appeared fatigued. Carr and Loveridge were declared the winners and will receive the medals—one for each

It was expected that a single scull contest would take place but one man having withdrawn the race was off for the day. Mr John Holland will row on Saturday evening at 6 o clock, a man to be hereafter named, probably Loveridge of the winning crew. We trust the young men will take more interest in these races and give us more of them. Organize practice and see what you can do, young men of Portland

College vs Spartans.

The second game of the series arranged for the Portland Centennial exhibition took place between the College club of Salem and the Spartans of Vancouver at the ground back of the seminary, Thursday commencing at 1 30 P M. They having met at Oregon City a few weeks since and there played a friendly game the nines became somewhat acquainted with each other and met yesterday with more than an ordinary friendly feeling existing between them resolved to play the best game possible under the circumstances. The crowd in attendance was much larger than on the day previous when the Pioneers and Spartans played,—the number being estimated at nearly one thousand. Jack Matthews, of the Pioneer club, was selected as the umpire and on tossing for choice the College won the 'outs.' Baker of the Spartans, was the first man at the bat and scored his run followed by Piper who was put out on the first. Biers Connell, Bateman and Smith came in over the home base while Garvin went out on a foul fly taken in by Baskett. Post's fly was captured by Peebles and the side went out with five runs scored. Baskett, of the College club scored his first run as did also Peebles Moores and McCully but Miller struck out. Belt and Coleman got in their runs. Jim McCully going out on the first. Smith of the Spartans, took in Baskett's fly and the nine went to the field once more. Baker and Piper of the Spartans came home in good order but Jim McCully squelched Biers by taking in his fly. Connell was extinguished before reaching the first, and Bateman before reaching the second base with but two runs scored. Peebles, Frank McCully and Miller each scored a run on the second inning. Moores retiring when his fly was taken in by Smith as was also Belt's. Connell contenting himself with the one sent up ward by Coleman, the game standing 9 to 7 in favor of the Capitolians. The third inning for the Spartans was opened by Smith who stepped down and out without reaching the first. Garvin got in a run but Brandt was declared "out on the first," and Post's ball was crapped up by Belt. Jim McCully tried to make the second base but failed. Rickey and Baskett made their marks, Morris went out on the first. Frank McCully knocked a fly into Smith's hands letting the side out easy with two runs credited. Baker and Piper opened the fourth inning by failing to reach the first and Connell's foul fly was captured by Coleman of the College leaving the Spartans a "white washed community." Miller of the College again "struck out," Belt adding one to his score, Coleman being captured on the third base, and Biers letting Jim McCully down easy by taking in his fly. The Spartans opened their fifth inning by Bateman being put out on the first. Smith, Garvin and Brandt crossed the home base. Post failed to reach the first, Baker and Piper reached home safely but whole souled Biers was taken in and cared for by the second base man. Rickey of the College club went over the home base. Post taking in Baskett's fly and Peebles and Moores failed to make their first. This closed the fifth inning, and the score stood 15 each. The Spartans were then treated to two consecutive white washes, the College club being used the same way once on scoring four runs on the seventh inning making them four ahead. The Spartans scored but three runs on the last two innings and the College club but four, which ended the game, the score standing 21 to 16 in favor of the College boys. The Spartans played a much better game than when playing with the Pioneers the day previous while friends of the College club claim they did not as well as usual in match games. Whether this is the case or otherwise will probably be demonstrated to day when, at 10 o clock A M they meet the Pioneers of this city. The Spartans certainly held them pretty level yesterday, and if to day they succeed in beating the Pioneers it is generally conceded they will have to play a better game than yesterday. The College club have an excellent record thus far, and they will not lose it without a severe struggle and the game of to day promises to be one of the best ever played in this State each club playing for blood and no discount. The following is the score of yesterday's game

THE FIREWORKS.

Want of space and time has hitherto precluded us from giving this part of the celebration the notice which its excellence justly merited. The committee contracted with Prof Hughes whose skill as a pyrotechnist is acknowledged by all to be of the highest order and he had spent several months in preparation of the works for the occasion. All being ready, led by the several bands of music, the crowd began to assemble on the ground before 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, and until half past nine vast crowds of people were seen on every street leading in that direction. The whole number present has been estimated at 1 000 and the continual ascension of sky rockets, the murmur of innumerable voices and the music of seven or eight bands all conspired to make the occasion one of very thrilling interest. At the appointed hour the match was applied to the first piece, and a great shout that fairly rent the heavens greeted the opening of the grand display. The exhibition was thoroughly enjoyed and all the pieces described in the published programme went off without a single failure, showing that Prof. Hughes had not allowed a single imperfect item of work to be put up. We have not space to describe in detail the several fine pieces displayed and can only say that the crown, sceptre and royal insignia surrounded with the chain of tyranny and surmounted with the English crown were beautiful and appropriate in design, and as they fell with a crash and July 4 1876 appeared the multitude of admiring spectators sent up renewed shouts of applause. The grand finale, representing Washington in the center on horseback, in the act of lifting his hat his sword hanging at his side and over his head the words "Portland's Centennial Welcome," etc surmounted by the American eagle and the flag of the Republic on each of the upper corners, with other appropriate designs which baffle our power to describe was one of the finest productions of the pyrotechnist's art which has been made on the Pacific coast. Altogether the display was a credit to the good judgment of the committee in making the contract with him and to Prof. Hughes as an artist in this difficult line of business. The work was well done and the exhibition unequaled by all former efforts in that line for its brilliancy and success.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE MINSTRELS.—Again a crowded auditorium greeted the minstrels last evening at New Market theater from which it may be inferred that the popularity of these deserving artists is not waning. One of the best programmes of the season was carried out spiritedly and kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter and sent them all home in a capital humor. Courtwright, Sutton, Mackin and Wilson and Norcross were exceedingly funny, while the beautiful ballads rendered by Russell and Waltz afforded much real pleasure to the audience. Ernest Linden the noted female impersonator, appeared to the best possible advantage and his attempts at burlesque opera were repeatedly encored. This excellent company will appear in the city for three times only—this and to morrow evening, and a matinee to morrow afternoon. A better company of minstrels has never visited Portland and we would urge all who have not yet witnessed their highly enjoyable entertainments to embrace the opportunity.

Rider & Hersey of the Aurora restaurant, announce that as the rush is over and the price of necessaries consequently reduced, they are again prepared to furnish meals at the former charge—25 cents.

A LETTER.

DR WIGHTMAN—Dear Sir Since using your "Process" I have been entirely free from the HEMORRHOIDS or PILES and with the exception of two or three times I have never felt any symptoms of them; then it was entirely my own fault. God knows I have had reason to feel thankful for the great good your VALUABLE REMEDY has been to me. Yours truly

J M BACON P M,
Oregon City.

The WIGHTMAN PROCESS will be sent to parties living at a distance C O D, by Express Loomis on Third street between Washington and Alder. Letter enclosing stamp will be promptly answered. Postoffice box 247 Portland, Oregon.

THE PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER AT THE CENTENNIAL.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13, 1876

W S PLUMMER, Esq—Dear Sir Please send me immediately full description of your process for fruit drying; also diagrams of your machine. They are needed for information for foreign commissioners, who take a deep interest in your fruit on exhibition.

A J DUFUR
Commissioner for Oregon

PLUMMER'S FAMILY FRUIT DRYER will be on exhibition on one of the principal streets in Portland during Centennial week where he will take orders for Dryers and explain the simplicity of its workings. All should see this dryer, as there is to be ten thousand dollars put up between this and the Alden Dryer at our next State Fair. Both dryers are to be erected and operated on the fair grounds this fall

HAIR RESTORED.

If any who are skeptical of the ability of Mrs S Lord to produce a crop of new hair in all stages of baldness will call or write to her at her rooms in National Bank building, Portland, she will refer them to several prominent Portland gentlemen who three months since placed themselves under her treatment and are now in possession of a crop of new fine hair which is rapidly increasing in strength and vigor. Itching of the scalp and falling hair checked readily. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington

Those Centennial mementoes manufactured by L C Henrichsen are the most tasty badges for the jubilee week that are out. Being of their own make we would advise every one to procure one before it is too late as a token of the event we celebrate.

A facsimile of the original "Liberty Bell" beautifully decorated, is to be seen at Plummer's Drug Store New Market Theater block. The above was purchased in Philadelphia direct, at the Centennial Exposition

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1876.

GRANTS COMING AND GOING.

SALEM, June 28, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Strangers arriving here now from the States say that about as many immigrants are going away from Oregon these times as are coming in. And they tell awful tales of this country to those whom they meet. Now the fault of all this may rest about equally with them and with us. We, here, are familiar with all pursuits and our resources and localities, and we are acquainted with each other and the lonesome feelings and homesick aches are pretty much worn off of us. We see strangers arriving all the the time, and we go about our own affairs and heed the others but little. The accounts of Oregon, sent off in print and letters are generally pretty well put up not much of the drawbacks noted. It is certainly true that there is no better country in North America, all things considered than this is. But it requires more or less capital, plenty of sand, and a good deal of sweat or brain work to get a comfortable start here and keep it. And we do not take enough pains and interest in the coming strangers. We incline, too much, to let each one of them paddle his own canoe.

Now, the most of these strangers do not ask any charity at our hands, but they do desire, and ought to receive of us, hearty sympathy and kindness. The old game, practiced here pretty freely till about the year 1866, of "skinning the immigrants," should not be revived. Immigrants complain that our folks will not sell to them lands or produce at what such articles have been offered at. Some Germans lately went thirty miles west of Salem, and heavy brush lands, unimproved, were held at $14 per acre! One man on the Waldo Hills asked for his farm $1,500, and soon after an immigrant went to buy it, and lo! it was held at $2,500. There are cheap lands here, and strangers ought to know it.

Many persons give Chinese labor the preference here. Our own people, who come here as citizens and voters, intending to stay amongst us, should have the employment, and should be encouraged in all reasonable ways. When we meet strangers carrying their carpet-sacks and traveling along our roads, or in our towns, we should greet them as friends, and make kind inquiries of them as to who they are, what sorts of work they can do, or what sorts of homes they want, whether to rent or buy. They should have all manner of information of the country and all its resources, and ways and means of living here.

And, on the other hand, many persons arrive at Astoria, Portland and Salem, and instead of striking out into the various rural districts and seeing the country, they judge unfavorably, get out of humor, homesick, and turn right about and leave here in a hurry; and oh what news they carry away about us and our country! If they wait for gold pieces to come to them, and the fat cattle, sheep and hogs with knives and forks stuck in their sides and backs, ready cooked for eating, they will look in vain. Common sense should be used by immigrants on coming here. There are persons here who do give correct information to strangers. I will venture the assertion that Governor Grover, Secretary Chadwick, Col. Cann, W. Breyman, A. Bush, Wesley Graves, Ralph Geer, Al Codlidge, the State Board of Immigration, Col. I. R. Moores, Hon. J. C. Peebles, and a hundred others of our good citizens, will, if applied to, give strangers true and valuable information about Oregon. That many of our people are selfish we admit. Where can we go to find perfection in men and women? By the time that immigrants sell out in the States at a sacrifice, come all the way here by rail and steamships, and then turn about and go back, they will be much lightened in their purses.

Oregon contains 60,000,000 acres of land, embracing timber, mineral, farming and grazing lands, and yet we have only 120,000 inhabitants in the State. There is much room here for settlers, and all sorts of occupations are open here for enterprising, sober, industrious persons. I can say for one, that I let no chance escape me in giving strangers useful information. It may be that right now, there is not employment for all that are coming in, but let not that discourage them. The harvest is to save; houses to build up; all the industries to be encouraged, and there are provisions and employment for all, if sought out. It is truly discouraging in many cases, on men of families arriving here—houses so scarce. But such persons should strike out from the towns into the rural districts, where they will find genuine kindness. Houses can soon be built, as lumber is abundant and cheap. The amount that it will require to take persons back to the States will settle them down here pretty comfortably as renters and in some cases as pre-emptors, or on homesteads.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM preserves and restores the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

LYON'S KATHAIRON makes beautiful, glossy luxuriant hair, prevents its falling out or turning gray. It has stood the test of 40 years. Is charmingly perfumed, and has no rival.

A gentleman afflicted with the chronic rheumatism says, "No description of my case can convey the vast amount of benefit I have received from the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. I believe it is the best article in the world for rheumatism."

If a horse has a good constitution and has once been a good horse, no matter how old or how much run down he may be, he can be greatly improved, and in many cases made as good as new, by a liberal use of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders.

Nature Gives us Teeth,

But she does not preserve and purify them. That must be done with fragrant SOZODONT. The dental bone and its enamel casing are made invulnerable to all destructive influences by the daily use of this botanic preparation.

FIRE!—At a recent fire in a tenement house in New York several persons were very seriously burned—one or two almost to death. The only prompt and effectual relief obtained was by the free use of Pond's Extract, which proved in this case, as in hundreds of others of less severity, a specific. The two who were thought to be fatally burned are almost entirely recovered, and almost free from even any marks. Children who are always blundering into accidents, and are fortunate enough to have tried Pond's Extract, instantly run for the bottle for every bruise, burn, cut, etc., etc. There is no household remedy so easy and safe of application, and so effectual. Keep a quart bottle in your house.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO, Grant and Baker counties, and are offered for sale in such sized tracts, not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing, or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutritious grass covers the uplands, affording the best of pastures, while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands, or rolling lands, can be put into crops with the most satisfactory return. Fruit, particularly peaches, plums, grapes, apples, pears and cherries, as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic; the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section, and a prosperous population is already established, occupied in farming, stock growing, mining, and various other pursuits.

Terms, $1 25 per acre and upwards, according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent. on deferred payments.

BAY VIEW HOUSE,

BAKER'S BAY, UNITY, W. T.

MR. DEXTER INFORMS THE PUBLIC that his House is now open for the reception of guests. Its advantages in every respect over any other Summer Resort are too well known to Oregonians to repeat here. To strangers I will say that the place is in plain sight and across the Bay from Astoria on the sheltered side of Cape Hancock, and very near and adjacent to the Fort and Lighthouse, on Baker's Bay, a beautiful sheet of water, unequaled for Sailing, Rowing, Fishing and Bathing. The dark forest with its picturesque drives, its mountain springs, profusion of wild berries, wild flowers and trail, the horse trail to the Cape for Equestrians or walkers, is one of the most delightful Panoramas to the eye ever witnessed. The cosy beaches, its caves, luxuriantly wooded island, its views of Astoria, Chinook, Fort Stevens, moist old Tillamook, in the blue distance.

The courteous hospitality of the officers of the Garrison at the Fort, and also of Mr. Munson and family, of the Lighthouse, make that place well worthy of a visit.

The Salt Water Bathing in the bay, within a few feet of the hotel, excels anything far or near, for warmth of the water and mildness of its waves, far preferable to the heavy surf and cold winds for women, children and invalids while the sturdy swimmer or those who love the foaming surf, in a few minutes walk will find a beach unsurpassed in beauty, hard and level for one continuous drive of thirty miles. At this end are huge rocks stretching out into the ocean from which fishers take from the sea, Bass, Rockfish, Tom Cod, Porgies, etc., etc. Crabs, Clams, Oysters, &c., in abundance, (and the Table will never lack a sufficiency of those desirable adjuncts.) Boats upon the Bay, Saddle Ponies for the children, Teams to the Weather Beach, Croquet, Swings, Quoits, etc., FREE to Guests.

Prices reduced from the old tariff.

To those who would like to camp out, wood and water and use of ground free. Groceries, provisions, milk, eggs, butter, etc., for sale at a small profit. Campers can board at the Hotel if they prefer at fair rates. A large Livery Stable two new and fine Ten Pin Alleys attached to the place.

Stage Office to Oysterville, Postoffice, Wells, Fargo & Co's office also there. No raw winds of damp fogs, and more beautiful tracks and shady groves cannot be found. The only regret the Landlord has is that his house is not larger; but his grounds are large enough and beautiful enough to warrant next season a Hotel worthy of the surroundings.
